THURSDAY, APRIL 24, 1874.

THE WESTERN FARM OF THE YEAR.

The general tone of comment of the West on the result of the election is one of satisfaction. It is believed that the people have shown a preference of approval, and that the result will be a permanent one. The election was a triumph for the Union, and the people have shown a preference of approval, and that the result will be a permanent one. The election was a triumph for the Union, and the people have shown a preference of approval, and that the result will be a permanent one.
